DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The objections to the drawings and specification as described in the office action mailed on February 25, 2005 have been withdrawn in view of the amendment filed on May 19, 2005.

Also, the rejection under 35 USC 112, second paragraph, described in the office action has been withdrawn in view of the amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 19, 20, 22, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over admitted prior art in view of Deckman et al. (US 5,716,527) or Haag et al. (US 5,110,478).

Applicants admit that the apparatus illustrated by Figure 1 is conventional. This conventional apparatus comprises a paraxylene recovery unit and an isomerization unit. See pages 13 and 14 of the specification and Figure 1.

The admitted prior art apparatus does not include a zeolite membrane unit.

The Deckman reference discloses zeolite membranes and their use to separate paraxylene from mixtures of xylenes. The membranes may also be used to catalyze xylene isomerization. See column 8, lines 54-60 and column 11, line 66 through column 13, line 23.

Likewise, the Haag reference discloses zeolite membranes and their use in separating paraxylene from mixtures of xylenes. See column 2, lines 16-68; column 5, lines 28-38; and column 8, lines 7-16 and 45-48.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the admitted prior art apparatus by including a zeolite membrane unit as suggested by either Deckman or Haag because including such a unit would provide for additional separation of the desired product thereby improving the efficiency of the process that utilizes the apparatus.

Response to Arguments

The argument that there is no motivation to combine the references with the admitted prior art is not persuasive because motivation arises from the advantage of additional separation as compared to the prior art apparatus.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
